

Didi Hirsch Glendale Center

Acquired by Didi Hirsch in May 2011, the Glendale Center offers a range of culturally competent mental health and substance abuse services, with linguistic expertise in Spanish and Armenian, two commonly spoken languages in the community. It provides mental health treatment for young people experiencing emotional and behavioral difficulties at the Center, in the home, or on campuses of the Glendale and Alhambra Unified School Districts. We emphasize family involvement for lasting change. Short-term therapy is also available to families in immediate crisis. Substance abuse prevention education is taught on local K-12 and college campuses.

Older teens, adults, and senior adults also may access a wide range of mental health services. Glendale Center also has a drug diversion program, which enables individuals mandated by the court to take a 20-week course in lieu of sentencing. Yet another program is focused on adults on federal probation, or awaiting sentencing, who receive evaluation and treatment for mental illness and addiction. The location also has a Wellness Center.

Services offered at Glendale: Child & Family, Adults, Older Adults, Transitional Age Youth, Wellness Center
